About the course

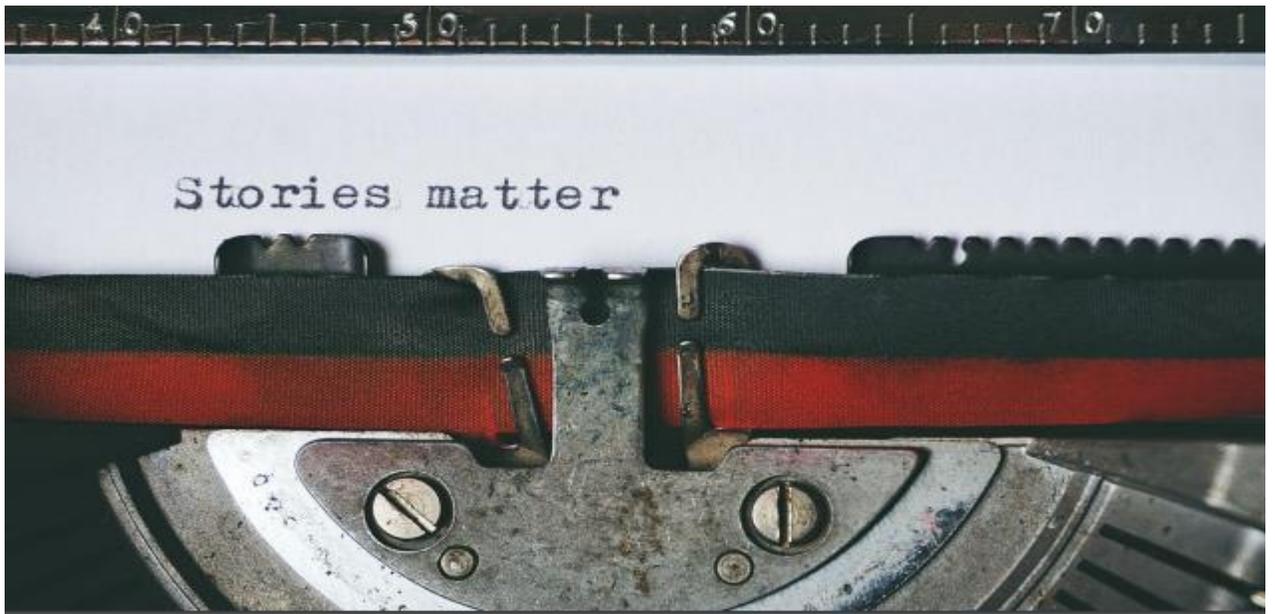

Prior to the advent of technology via the Internet and social media platforms, words were used by humans to share information and express emotions. These words helped to structure the messages to be conveyed and strengthen the communication skills of the individuals.

A great communicator, using his/her communication instincts, knows how to satisfy the zeal which makes him a great orator or a storyteller. Human storytelling is not new, it has existed for as far-back as we can trace predated writing. Humans have stories for entertainment, education, cultural presentations, to convey experiences, history lessons, morals and to share what they want to convey. Story telling is a way to share and learn ideas, values and practices. Stories bring people together. Stories offer a connection in between the past, the present and the future and help to connect people around through feelings and shared experiences. This course is designed for those who combine a tremendous relentless determination with stalwart communication tactics, and who are competent enough to transmogrify their emotions into words. The course aims to develop the skills of such plebes changing their words into stories and for the budding artists who have the caliber to transform their words into a story but disorientation of the skill holds them back.

Feedback from Students

- I used to write a lot few years back, but due to studies I don't get much time to write. Though I write on rare occasions, I wanted to develop this skill and become confident in my writings. Thanks to this course I am more confident to write now.
- Manya Verma
- I love to write my thoughts through poems and I have written some poems as well. This course helped me to learn various aspects of writing which I wanted to learn for improving my skills..
-Tushar
- I wanted to write poems and it's quite interesting to feel through words. Poetry writing gives you power to be a voice for inner soul voices. Thank You for wonderful lectures.
- Archna
- I've been really into writing for the past couple of months so I wanted to develop my skills in poetry as well, this course helped me a lot to achieve my goal.
